

Emily Henderson (cello) is 17 years old and is currently studying for her A-levels at The Purcell School on a scholarship under the Music and Dance scheme. Emily was previously a Music Scholar at Trent College and attended the Royal Birmingham Junior Conservatoire for three years. She currently studies cello with Alexander Boyarsky.

Emily has performed in the Southwell Music Festival playing in the Popper Requiem for Three Cellos in a Fringe concert. She has also participated in a masterclass with Karel Brendenhorst and was a member of the CBSO Youth Orchestra, Nottingham Youth Orchestra and Derby City and County Youth Orchestra. In the Derby Arts Festival Emily won the Irene Slater Cup in the strings solo class and was also a cup winner in the Cheltenham Festival of Performing Arts String solo category. She intends to become a professional cellist.
